To Whom It May Concern;

I would like to share with you the wonderful opportunity that we have discovered to save money on your business telecom expenses.

Genetco recently engaged Telecom Analysis Group LLC, an affiliate of RMH Telecom Consultants to review our telecommunications network and expenses. Initially, we were not sure that Mr. Kassay's organization could help us immediately as we were in the middle of a contract with our current provider. After our first contact, we provided Mr. Andy Kassay all the information requested for review, which required no outlay of money on our part. Mr. Kassay assured us that even though we were in the midst of a contract, he could still negotiate with the carrier and find us savings. Which is just what he did.

We were kept informed through the entire process and were presented with a detailed report of their recommendations. Telecom Analysis Group's independent review resulted in a savings going forward in excess of $ 12,000.00 per year which equated to a 25% reduction in our telecom expenditures.

Mr. Kassay is currently working on a refund for a provider overcharge discovered by his group. This could possibly bring us an additional refund in excess of $ 20,000.00. Based on the results already achieved, I would highly recommend Mr. Kassay and his group for any organization interested in reducing their overall telecommunications expenses. Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

William Carney, VP
